

ANJOS, LUCAS COSTA DOS

Universidade Federal de Minas Gerais - Programa de Pós-Graduação em Direito

Belo Horizonte – Brasil

lucascostaanjos@gmail.com

Hoja de vida (en Inglés)

Lucas Anjos has a Law Degree from the Federal University of Minas Gerais, and is currently a M.A. student at the same institution, with a scholarship from CAPES (Coordination for the Improvement of Higher Education, a Foundation within the Brazilian Ministry of Education). He is an assistant professor at the Federal University of Minas Gerais, for the State Sciences, International Relations and Law undergraduate courses. He has an LLM degree in International Law by the Center of International Law (CEDIN), in Belo Horizonte, Brazil. He has previous international experience attending various courses in the Juris Doctor Programme of Baylor Law School, in Waco/TX, United States, from 2007 to 2008. He was an intern and an associate lawyer at Barbosa, Müssnich & Aragão Law Firm, from 2008 to 2011. He has previous work and research experience in International Public Law, International Private Law, Economic Law, Intellectual Property and International Relations, and is currently emphasizing his studies in the field of intellectual property as a means of achieving economic development in emerging nations such as Brazil, South America and China.
